

What we can do for you

Making health research more relevant to people's needs

Does your work involve making health research more relevant to the needs of people in your country? Or working with countries for capacity building of systems for national health research or innovation? If so, COHRED offers expertise, tools and useful perspectives that can help you achieve these goals.